

Clustering Student Learners based on performance using K-Means Algorithm

Publisher: IEEE

Cite This

Venkata Rami Reddy ; D. Yakobu ; S. Shiva Prasad ; P A Harsha Vardhini All Authors

27

Full

Text Views

Abstract

Document Sections

I. Introduction
EN English (India)

II. Literature Review

Abstract:

Information Processing Speed is to how a learner can quickly process the incoming information. Many researchers consider Information Processing Speed as a central aspect of IQ. Many children with attention problems are unable to cope up with the lesson presented by the teacher. A student with such attention problems quickly give up trying if they can't able to process the initial information quickly. Processing speed is one of four psychometric constructs that are considered important in helping us

More Like This

Intelligent Computer-Aided Instruction Modeling and a Method to Optimize Study Strategies for Parallel Robot Instruction

IEEE Transactions on Education
Published: 2013

Problems and countermeasures in the use of Computer Aid Instruction in university graphic design teaching

2011 International Conference on Multimedia Technology
Published: 2011

PDF

Help